Interagency Coordination During Joint Operations Vol II

Final Coordination
26 April 2004

PREFACE

1. Scope

~~This volume~~ Volume I discusses the interagency environment and describes joint doctrine to best achieve coordination between the combatant commands of the Department of Defense and agencies of the US Government, nongovernmental ~~and private voluntary~~ organizations, and regional and international organizations during unified actions and joint operations. It provides potential methodologies to synchronize successful interagency operations. ~~Volume II~~ This volume describes the key US Government departments and agencies and nongovernmental and international organizations — their core competencies, basic organizational structures, and relationship, or potential relationship, with the Armed Forces of the United States.

2. Purpose

This publication has been prepared under the direction of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. It sets forth doctrine to govern the joint activities and performance of the Armed Forces of the United States in joint operations and provides the doctrinal basis for US military involvement in multinational and interagency operations. It provides military guidance for the exercise of authority by combatant commanders and other joint force commanders (JFCs) and prescribes doctrine for joint operations and training. It provides military guidance for use by the Armed Forces in preparing their appropriate plans. It is not the intent of this publication to restrict the authority of the JFC from organizing the force and executing the mission in a manner the JFC deems most appropriate to ensure unity of effort in the accomplishment of the overall mission.

3. Application

a. Doctrine and guidance established in this publication apply to the commanders of combatant commands, subunified commands, joint task forces, and subordinate components of these commands. These principles and guidance also may apply when significant forces of one Service are attached to forces of another Service or when significant forces of one Service support forces of another Service.

b. The guidance in this publication is authoritative; as such, this doctrine will be followed except when, in the judgment of the commander, exceptional circumstances dictate otherwise. If conflicts arise between the contents of this publication and the contents of Service publications, this publication will take precedence for the activities of joint forces unless the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, normally in coordination with the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has provided more current and specific guidance. Commanders of forces operating as part of a multinational (alliance or coalition) military command should follow multinational doctrine and procedures ratified by the United States. For doctrine and procedures not ratified by the United States, commanders should evaluate and follow the multinational command's doctrine and procedures, where applicable and consistent with US law, regulations, and doctrine.

US GOVERNMENT AGENCIES

1. This appendix provides descriptions of United States Government (USG) agencies with which the Department of Defense has frequent interaction or that a deployed joint task force may encounter during the course of contingency operations.
2. The description of individual agencies is limited to those components that the Department of Defense may normally encounter. These are highlighted with a bold outline on the organizational diagrams included with most agency descriptions.

ANNEX A TO APPENDIX A
UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

1. Overview

The US Department of Agriculture (USDA) has wide ranging knowledge and skills in the US agricultural sector and applies these skills to analysis and development overseas.

2. Authority and Responsibilities

Within the USDA, most day-to-day international responsibilities are exercised by the Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS). The agency is represented by agricultural counselors and attaches working with US embassies throughout the world (see Figure A-A-1).

3. Organizational Structure

For field coordination, initial contact should be made through the FAS agricultural counselor or attache, or directly to FAS/International Cooperation and Development (ICD) Program if there is no agricultural office. To coordinate agricultural development and emergency technical assistance, the FAS/ICD has major responsibilities. The Deputy Administrator for FAS/ICD has the authority to accept funding and implementation responsibilities on behalf of the USDA technical agencies, and to assist in the implementation process. FAS/ICD also coordinates USDA relations with a variety of governmental and international organizations.

4. Capabilities and Core Competencies

The following USDA Services provide the Department key capabilities.

a. Cooperative State Research Service and the Extension Service provide wide-ranging capabilities to support agricultural sector needs.

b. Natural Resources Conservation Service provides specialists in soil and water conservation.

c. Forest Service, active in the conservation and proper use of forest resources, also provides disaster-scene management skills.

d. Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service assists in the protection of food resources from pests and disease threats.

5 5. Department of Defense/USDA Coordination

7 USDA maintains surveillance of agricultural products and guards against potential plant or 8 animal infestations entering the United States through global distribution ports of debarkation.
9 All forces and materiel returning to the continental United States (CONUS) through the global
10 distribution network require USDA inspection. Retrograde and return planning must include 11 arrangements for cleaning and USDA inspection prior to shipment from the theater. Failure to 12 do so may result in serious delays to the shipment and significant costs to the shipper Service.
13 Coordination with USDA will be especially important in the event of exposure to a chemical,
14 biological, radiological, ~~or~~ or high-yield explosives (CBRNE) environment. USDA
15 also provides ongoing agricultural technical assistance in many outside the continental United 16 States (OCONUS) areas and can develop coordinated Department of Defense (DOD) civil 17 aAffairs and USDA projects for given countries or regions.

ANNEX B TO APPENDIX A DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

1. Overview

The Department of Commerce (DOC) encourages, serves, and promotes the Nation's international trade, economic growth, and technological advancement and promotes the national interest through the encouragement of the competitive free enterprise system. It offers assistance and information to increase America's competitiveness in the world economy; administers programs to prevent unfair foreign trade competition; provides social and economic statistics and analyses for business and government planners; provides research and support for the increased use of scientific, engineering, and technological development; works to improve our understanding and benefits of the Earth's physical environment and oceanic resources; grants patents and registers trademarks; develops policies and conducts research on telecommunications; provides assistance to promote domestic economic development; promotes travel to the United States by residents of foreign countries; and assists in the growth of minority businesses.

2. Authority and Responsibilities

The Department of Commerce is responsible for developing and administering Federal policy and programs affecting the industrial and commercial segments of the national economy (see Figure A-B-1).

3. Organizational Structure

a. The Department of Commerce is composed of the Office of the Secretary, 14 bureaus, and other operating units.

b. Perhaps the most relevant DOC organization to military operations is the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA). NOAA conducts research, makes predictions, and gathers data about the environment through six functional divisions and a system of special program units, regional field offices, data or administrative support centers, and laboratories (see Figure A-B-2). NOAA's divisions and services include the following:

(1) National Weather Service (NWS) performs weather forecasting, maintaining a constant vigil for the life-threatening dangers of hurricanes, tornadoes, winter storms, and floods.

(2) National Marine Fisheries Service performs fishery management and research, enforces fishery regulations, and protects coastal fishery habitats.

(3) National Ocean Service charts and surveys America's coastal waterways, operates the Nation's underwater national parks (known as National Marine Sanctuaries) and manages coastal zones to assure the well-being of wetlands, water quality, beaches, and wildlife.

 2 technical advances made in underwater diving techniques, and study global climate changes.

 4 (5) National Environmental Satellite, Data and Information Service (NESDIS) is 5 the world's largest environmental data storage and distribution facility. It is responsible for the 6 polar-orbiting and geostationary satellites that collect images of cloud and storm patterns, which 7 are then relayed to the NWS. As part of an international search and rescue satellite system,
 8 NESDIS helps save lives of downed pilots and mariners in distress.

 10 (6) Administrative Support Centers.

11
 12 (7) Office of Oceanic and Atmospheric Research studies weather, climate, air
 13 quality, oceans, and the Great Lakes to better understand the Earth's environment.

14 15 4. Capabilities and Core Competencies

16
 17 The Department of Commerce's capabilities include the following:

18
 19 a. To produce, analyze, and disseminate economic and demographic data.

20
 21 b. To conduct statistical research and collect information about virtually every country in 22 the world and data on foreign trade.

2 c. To analyze and protect the national defense production base and help with defense
3 conversion in the United States.

5 d. To contribute to an international search and rescue satellite system that reacts to aviation
6 and marine emergency transponders.

8 e. To formulate US export control policies through the Bureau of Export Administration, a 9 key agency in the effort to stop the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and to control
10 sensitive technology transfer.

11
12 f. To develop and implement US foreign trade and economic policies through the 13 International Trade Administration with the Department of the Treasury, the Office of the US
14 Trade Representative and other agencies.

15
16 5. Interagency Relationships

17
18 The Department of Commerce is assigned as the support agency for several Emergency 19 Support Functions within the Federal response plan (FRP). The type of assistance provided by 20 Department of Commerce is determined by the nature of the emergency.

ANNEX C TO APPENDIX A

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

1. Overview

The Department of Defense (DOD), established by the National Security Act of 1947, maintains and employs Armed Forces to deter war and protect the security of the United States and its national interests.

2. Authority and Responsibilities

a. Under the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, the Department of Defense's responsibilities include the following:

(1) Support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic.

(2) Ensure, by timely and effective military action, the security of the United States, its possessions, and areas vital to its interests.

(3) Uphold and advance the national policies and interests of the United States.

b. The President of the United States. The President exercises authority and control of the Armed Forces through two distinct branches of the chain of command. One branch runs from the President, through the Secretary of Defense, to the commanders of combatant commands for missions and forces assigned to their commands. The other branch used for purposes other than operational direction of forces assigned to the combatant commands, runs from the President through the Secretary of Defense to the Secretaries of the Military Departments.

c. Secretary of Defense. The Secretary of Defense is the principal assistant to the President for all DOD matters, with authority, direction, and control over the entire Department.

d. Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is the principal military adviser to the President, the National Security Council (NSC), and the Secretary of Defense. The Chairman functions under the authority, direction, and control of the Secretary of Defense and transmits communications between the Secretary of Defense and combatant commanders and oversees activities of combatant commanders as directed by the Secretary of Defense.

e. The Military Departments. The authority vested in the Secretaries of the Military Departments in the performance of their role to organize, train, equip, and provide forces runs from the President through the Secretary of Defense to the Secretaries. Then, to the degree established by the Secretaries or specified in law, this authority runs through the Service Chiefs to the Service component commanders assigned to the combatant commands and to the

1 commanders of forces not assigned to the combatant commands. This administrative control
2 provides for the preparation of military forces and their administration and support, unless such
3 responsibilities are specifically assigned by the Secretary of Defense to another DOD 4 component.

6 f. Combatant Commanders. Commanders of combatant commands exercise combatant
7 command (command authority) over assigned forces and are directly responsible to the 8 Secretary of Defense for the performance of assigned missions and the preparedness of their 9 commands to perform assigned missions.

10 11 3. Organizational Structure

12
13 a. The Department of Defense is composed of the Office of the Secretary of Defense
14 (OSD), the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) and the Joint Staff, the Military Departments and the 15 Military Services within those Departments, the unified combatant commands, the Defense
16 agencies and DOD Field Activities, and other offices, agencies, activities and commands that 17 may be established or designated by law or by the President or the Secretary of Defense (see

19
20 b. Office of the Secretary of Defense. OSD is the principal staff element in the exercise of 21 policy development, planning, resource management, fiscal, and program evaluation responsibilities.
22

23 c. Joint Chiefs of Staff. The JCS includes the Chairman, the Vice Chairman, the Chief of Staff
24 of the Army, the Chief of Naval Operations, the Chief of Staff of the Air Force, and the Commandant
25 of the Marine Corps. The collective body of the JCS is headed by the Chairman (or the Vice 26 Chairman in the Chairman's absence), who sets the agenda and presides over JCS meetings. The 27 Chairman is the principal military advisor. The other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff are military
28 advisors to the President, the NSC, and the Secretary of Defense. The Joint Staff assists the Chairman
29 in his responsibilities to assist the President with national strategic direction and unified operation of 30 the Armed Forces. Subject to the authority, direction, and control of the Chairman, the Joint Staff also 31 assists other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in carrying out their responsibilities.
32

33 d. Military Departments. The Military Departments are the Departments of the Army, 34 Navy (including the Marine Corps), and Air Force. Each Military Department is separately
35 organized under a civilian Secretary, who supervises the Chief (or Chiefs) of the Service in 36 matters of a Service nature. The Secretaries of the Military Departments exercise authority, 37 direction, and control (through the individual Chiefs of the Services) of their forces not 38 specifically assigned to combatant commanders. The Military Departments are responsible for 39 training, organizing, ~~training, supplying~~providing, and equipping forces for assignment to 40 combatant commands.

41
42 e. Unified Combatant Commands. A unified combatant command has a broad 43 continuing mission under a single commander and is composed of significant assigned 44 components of two or more Military Departments. Combatant commands typically have 45 geographic or functional responsibilities (see Figure A-C-2).
46

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

1        f. Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities. ~~There are currently~~
2 ~~sixteen Defense Agencies and seven DOD Field Activities that operate under the control and~~
3 ~~direction of the Secretary of Defense.~~ These organizations, ~~shown in Figure A-C-3,~~ provide 4 support and services in specific functional areas to the unified combatant commands and the rest
5 of the Department of Defense.

7            (1) The Defense Agencies perform selected support and service functions on a 8 Department-wide basis. Defense agencies that are assigned wartime support missions are 9 designated as Combat Support Agencies.
10

11           (2) DOD Field Activities are established to perform selected support and service
12 functions of a more limited scope than Defense agencies.
13

14        4. Capabilities and Core Competencies

15

16           With its global reach, the Department of Defense has the capability to respond rapidly and 17 decisively to quell regional crises, whether threats are large or small, expected or unexpected. It
18 has elements ready to project power and security assistance from the United States or its 19 overseas bases on short notice. In the post-Cold War era, the Department of Defense's versatile
20 capabilities are being used for multiple roles, both overseas and domestically, to further US
21 interests. The President, his advisors, and Congress often look to the Department of Defense to 22 complete tasks that no other department or agency is capable of performing (see Figure A-C-43).
23

24        5. Interagency Relationships

25

26           The Department of Defense has a major role in the interagency arena. It interacts with 27 almost every government agency and department and is involved in interagency coordination at 28 the strategic, operational, and tactical levels. The Secretary of Defense is a member of the NSC,
29 and the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff serves as an advisor to the NSC. The Department
30 of Defense is significantly involved in the entire NSC interagency process, with representatives
31 assigned to all NSC sub-groups (i.e., Principals Committee and Deputies Committees) and most 32 policy coordinating committees (PCCs).

ANNEX D TO APPENDIX A

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

1. Overview

The Department of Energy (DOE) provides the framework for a comprehensive and balanced national energy plan through the coordination and administration of the energy functions of the USG. The Department is responsible for long-term, high-risk research and development of energy technology; the marketing of Federal power; energy conservation; the nuclear weapons program; energy regulatory programs; and a central energy data collection and analysis program.

2. Authority and Responsibilities

The Department of Energy, established by the Department of Energy Organization Act of 1977, formulates and executes energy policies, plans, and programs including: coordination of the efforts of the energy, weapons and/or waste clean-up, and science and technology programs; primary oversight of energy efficiency and renewable energy programs, fossil energy, nuclear energy information, and civilian radioactive waste management; oversight of the power marketing administrations, intelligence and national security programs, energy research, science education and technical information programs; and laboratory management. A principal Department of Energy mission assigned by the FRP during crisis is to help the Federal government meet military, essential civilian, defense industry, and allied energy requirements.

3. Organizational Structure

a. Supporting the Department in matters of department-wide scope, independent internal oversight, and non-technical direction are staff offices reporting directly to the Secretary and depicted in Figure A-D-1.

b. The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission is an independent, five-member commission within the Department of Energy. It sets rates and charges for the transportation and sales of natural gas, for the transmission and sale of electricity, and for the licensing of hydroelectric power projects.

c. Management and administration of USG-owned, contractor-operated facility contracts for energy research and development, as well as nuclear weapons research, development, testing, and production activities are the major responsibility of the Department's eight operations offices, located in Albuquerque, NM; Chicago, IL; Idaho Falls, ID; Las Vegas, NV; Oak Ridge, TN; Richland, WA; San Francisco, CA; and Savannah River, SC.

d. The Department of Energy also has several field offices concerned primarily with specific programs (such as the Strategic Petroleum Reserve Project Office), two offices involved with the development of nuclear reactors for the Navy, and several offices devoted to the management of the Naval Petroleum and Oil Shale Reserves.

e. Crisis Response

(1) The Department of Energy has an emergency operations center at its Washington, DC, headquarters (HQ) for use during crises involving energy systems and for DOE support to other Federal agencies when appropriate. The Director of the DOE's lead field office, in conjunction with the HQ, will assign staff to temporary duty at Federal Emergency Management

1 Agency's (FEMA's) disaster field office and to field mobilization centers to assist in the 2 coordination of disaster relief.

4 (2) The Department of Energy is the primary agency identified in the FRP for 5 emergencies that involve coordinating the provision of emergency power and fuel to support
6 immediate response operations, as well as providing power and fuel to normalize community
7 functioning.

9 (3) Elements of the Department of Energy are specifically organized, trained, and 10 equipped to cope with all forms of nuclear accidents and incidents, including those that may be 11 associated with terrorist activity. This wide range of capabilities is grouped under the 12 Department of Energy Emergency Response Program.

13
14 (4) The Radiation Emergency Assistance Center/Training Site (REAC/TS), 15 operated by Oak Ridge Associated Universities, Oak Ridge, TN, provides facilities for handling 16 victims of radiation emergencies.

17
18 (5) Field Organization. Operation Offices are DOE offices located outside of 19 Washington, DC. area. There are nine Operations Offices: Albuquerque, Chicago, Idaho, 20 Nevada, Oakland, Oak Ridge, Ohio, Richland, and Savannah River.

21 22 4. Capabilities and Core Competencies

23
24 The Department of Energy's capabilities include the following:

25
26 a. Research and development of energy-related technologies, such as coal liquefaction and 27 gasification, energy efficiency in building construction, alternative fuels, and electric and hybrid 28 vehicles.

29
30 b. Research, development and testing of nuclear reactors and weapons.

31
32 c. Management of weapon stockpiling.

33
34 d. Oversight of occupational safety involving radiological activities and environmental 35 restoration, as well as providing the capability to assess clean-up and decontamination needs.

36
37 e. Coordination with Federal and state agencies to bring emergency fuel and power to the 38 scene of a disaster.

39
40 f. Provision of radiological assistance in situations involving radioactive materials.

41 42 5. Interagency Relationships

43
44 a. The Office of the Assistant Secretary for Environment, Safety and Health conducts 45 liaison with other Federal agencies, such as the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the

1 Department of Labor (and its component, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration),
2 and Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), to coordinate mutual interests.

4 b. The Department of Energy and the Department of the Navy coordinate activities
5 regarding design, development, and testing of improved naval reactor propulsion plants and 6 reactor cores.

8 c. In emergencies involving the Nation's energy systems, the Department of Energy
9 maintains close coordination with appropriate Federal agencies and state officials to establish 10 priorities to repair damaged energy systems and to provide temporary, alternate, or interim
11 sources of emergency fuel and power. Coordination of emergency support needs is 12 accomplished with the International Energy Agency and the International Atomic Energy
13 Agency, \(IAEA\) as appropriate.

14
15 d. The REAC/TS provides medical advice, specialized training, and on-site assistance for 16 the treatment of all types of radiation exposure accidents. The REAC/TS is designated as the 17 World Collaboration Center for radiation accident management by the World Health
18 Organization (WHO). REAC/TS is operated by Oak Ridge Associated Universities, Oak Ridge, 19 TN. In transportation emergencies, REAC/TS provides medical advice to on-scene medical 20 professionals by telephone, direct consultation, or both.

21
22 e. The Federal Radiological Monitoring and Assessment Center (FRMAC) is a 23 temporary, situation-specific, crisis response activity that coordinates all of the radiological
24 monitoring and assessment efforts and activities of the Federal agencies, while supporting 25 reaction to a radiological incident in accordance with the Federal Radiological Emergency
26 Response Plan. The FRMAC is usually established at an airport or other site as close as possible
27 to the scene of a radiological emergency.

28
29 f. The Radiological Assistance Program (RAP) provides radiological assistance during 30 incidents involving radioactive materials. RAP assistance can include identification of 31 personnel, equipment, vehicles, or property contaminated by radioactivity; recommendations to 32 medical professionals regarding treatment of injuries complicated by radioactive contamination;
33 and advice regarding personnel monitoring, decontamination, materiel recovery, and other post-
34 incident operations. Deployable RAP equipment includes hand-held radiation monitoring 35 devices (alpha, beta, and gamma radiation) and anti-contamination clothing.

ANNEX E TO APPENDIX A DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY

1. Overview

In the aftermath of the terrorist attacks against America on September 11th, 2001, 22 previously independent domestic agencies were combined into a single department to protect the nation against threats to the homeland. Component agencies analyze threats and intelligence, guard the nation's borders and airports, protect critical infrastructure, and coordinate the response to domestic emergencies. Figure A-E-1 depicts the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) organization.

2. Department of Homeland Security Directorates

(3) National Communications System.

(4) National Infrastructure Protection Center.

(5) Energy Security and Assurance Program.

3. Subordinate Agencies

The Secret Service and the United States Coast Guard (USCG) are also subordinate to the Department of Homeland Security, remaining intact and reporting directly to the Secretary. In addition, the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) was created as a separate bureau by the Homeland Security Act of 2002, which allows the DHS to improve the administration of benefits and immigration services. This new Bureau includes approximately 15,000 employees and contractors, and is headed by the Director of USCIS, who reports directly to the Deputy Secretary for Homeland Security. ~~the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) adjudications and benefits programs will report directly to the Deputy Secretary as the Bureau of Citizenship and Immigration Services.~~

4. Key Department of Homeland Security Agencies

a. United States Coast Guard. The USCG was established in 1915 and became a part of the Department of Transportation (DOT) in 1967. In March 2003, the Coast Guard was transferred to the Department of Homeland Security. The predecessor of the Coast Guard, the Revenue Marine, was established in 1790 as a Federal maritime law enforcement agency. Today the Coast Guard is the Nation's primary maritime operating agency, with resources organized, trained and equipped to be "multi-mission capable." The Coast Guard is unique as it serves as a branch of the Armed Forces at all times and as an agency within the Department of Homeland Security. The Coast Guard may also operate as a part of the Navy during time of war or when directed by the President. The organization of the Coast Guard includes a HQ located in Washington, DC. There are two senior operational commanders in the Atlantic Area (Portsmouth, VA) and Pacific Area (Alameda, CA). Under these two commanders are nine district offices (operational commanders for their geographic areas) and two Maintenance and Logistics Commands (Atlantic and Pacific). Coast Guard operational units include: 25 air stations (with over 200 fixed-wing and rotary-wing aircraft), three Polar Class icebreakers, 12 high endurance cutters, 28 medium endurance cutters, over 100 - 110 foot and 87 foot patrol boats, approximately 90 other types of cutters (vessels over 65 feet in length, including buoy tenders) and over 1,400 boats (vessels less than 65 feet in length). Additionally, the Coast Guard manages the National Pollution Funds Center in Arlington, VA; the National Strike Force Coordination Center in Elizabeth City, NC; and the Coast Guard Academy in New London, CT. The Coast Guard's major roles in support of national security are: maritime safety, maritime law enforcement, maritime environmental protection, maritime homeland security and national defense. Through an agreement between the Department of Defense and the Department of Transportation (that remains in effect with Coast Guard now under the Department of Homeland Security), the Coast Guard's unique defense capabilities in support of the National Military Strategy include: maritime interception operations; deployed port operations, security and defense; environmental defense operations, and peacetime military operations. Interagency agreements between the Coast Guard and other USG agencies are listed in Commandant, United States Coast Guard Instruction P5850.2, "Legal Authorities." Execution of the Coast Guard's four roles includes the following:

(1) Naval, coastal and harbor defense.

(2) Port security, including the deployment of port security units, cutters, and patrol boats for OCONUS military operations to perform the port and harbor security mission (waterside patrols, vessel escort, surveillance, and interdiction).

(3) Search and rescue operations.

(4) Flood relief and removal of hazards to navigation.

(5) Enforcement of applicable Federal laws and treaties and other international agreements., including maritime interception operations to enforce sanctions.

(6) Investigation of suspected violations of such laws and international agreements.

2 (7) Support of the National Drug Control Strategy as the lead agency for maritime
3 interdiction and co-lead agency for air interdiction.

5 (8) Enforcement of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 United States Code
6 (USC) 1251) and various other laws relating to the protection of the marine environment by 7 which foreign vessels are prohibited from entering US waters unless they have insurance ~~RFD~~
8 release for delivery or other guarantees that potential pollution liability for cleanup and damages
9 will be met.
10

11 (9) Provision of a National Response Center to receive reports of terrorism, oil, and 12 hazardous substance spills, investigate spills, initiate subsequent civil penalty actions, and 13 coordinate federally-funded spill response operations.
14

15 (10) Administration of the Port Safety and Security Program through the USCG
16 Captains of the Port to enforce rules and regulations governing the safety and security of ports
17 and anchorages as well as the movement of vessels and prevention of pollution in US waters.
18

26 oil from tankers to shore.
27

28 (14) Provision of personnel, equipment, and expertise to the Harbor Defense
29 Commands. These are co-staffed by USCG and US Navy personnel that exercise OCONUS
30 command and control of naval coastal warfare forces, supplying port safety and security, vessel
31 traffic control and safety, search and rescue, surveillance and interdiction, and aids to navigation
32 capabilities.
33

34 (15) Establishment and maintenance of the US aids to navigation system, including 35 lights, buoys, day beacons, fog signals, marine radio beacons, and radio navigation aids such as 36 long range aid to navigation, revision C (LORAN-C) and Differential Global Positioning System 37 (LORAN-C coverage has been established in parts of the western Pacific, Europe, and the 38 Mediterranean to meet DOD requirements).
39

40 (16) Broadcast and publication of marine information as well as local Notice to 41 Mariners and Light Lists.
42

43 (17) Operation of the Nation's icebreaking vessels to facilitate maritime transportation
44 and aid in prevention of flooding and to support logistics to US polar installations, and to support
45 scientific research in Arctic and Antarctic waters.
46

1 (18) Support peacetime military and civil engagement activities of the National
2 Military Strategy.

4 (19) Assist DOD in performance of any mission for which the Coast Guard is 5 especially qualified (14 USC 141).

7 b. The US Customs Service (USCS), whose activities are overseen by the DHS Border
8 and Transportation Security directorate, is specifically charged with the following:

10 (1) Assessing and collecting customs duties, excise taxes, fees, and penalties due on 11 imported merchandise.

12
13 (2) Interdicting and seizing contraband, including narcotics and illegal drugs.

14
15 (3) Processing persons, carriers, cargo, and mail into and out of the United States.

16

18 circumvent customs and related copyright, patent, and trademark provisions and quotas.

19
20 (5) Overseeing marking requirements for imported merchandise.

21
22 (6) Enforcing export control laws and reporting requirements of the Bank Secrecy Act.

23
24 (7) Intercepting illegal high technology and weapons exports.

25
26 (8) Conducting border enforcement and a wide range of public safety and quarantine
27 matters.

28
29 c. The United States Secret Service (USSS) is mandated by statute and executive order to 30 carry out two missions: protection and criminal investigations. The USSS protects the President
31 and Vice President, their families, heads of state, and other designated individuals; investigates
32 threats against these protectees; protects the White House, Vice President's Residence, Foreign 33 Missions, and other buildings within Washington, DC; and plans and implements security
34 designs for designated National Special Security Events. The USSS also investigates violations
35 of laws relating to counterfeiting of obligations and securities of the United States; financial 36 crimes that include, but are not limited to, access device fraud, financial institution fraud,
37 identity theft, computer fraud; and computer-based attacks on our nation's financial, banking,
38 and telecommunications infrastructure.

39
40 d. Federal Emergency Management Agency. FEMA is an independent federal agency
41 whose activities are overseen by the DHS Emergency Preparedness and Response directorate.
42 FEMA has approximately 2,500 full-time employees stationed in Washington, DC, and across 43 the country, and nearly 4,000 standby disaster assistance employees who are available to help
44 out after disasters. FEMA's mission is to reduce the loss of life and property and protect our 45 nation's critical infrastructure from all types of hazards, through a comprehensive emergency
46 management program of risk reduction, preparedness, response and recovery. FEMA works

1 with 26 other agencies that are part of the FRP, ranging from the US Small Business
2 Administration to the Department of Defense. FEMA also works closely with such voluntary
3 organizations as the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army, and with the emergency
4 planners and officials of states and local governments.

6 (1) FEMA's functions include:

8 (a) Working with state and local officials to determine the scope of the disaster
9 and essential needs in the impacted area.

10
11 (b) Creating and staffing federal/state ~~Disaster-disaster Field-field Offices-offices~~ |
12 and coordinating with other federal agencies under the FRP.

14 (c) Making disaster aid available.

26 (i) Credentialing urban search and rescue teams.

27
28 (j) Developing consequencet management plans for domestic terrorism. |
29

30 (2) Disaster Response and Recovery. FEMA does not respond to every disaster that 31 occurs in the US. FEMA responds when a disaster overwhelms a state's resources and 32 assistance is requested by a state governor. Federal disaster declarations are made by the 33 President, and allow the federal government to pay for disaster recovery. Disaster assistance 34 comes from a special fund set up by Congress under the Stafford Act. Equipment, supplies and 35 people are pre-positioned in areas likely to be affected. When disasters such as tornadoes or 36 earthquakes occur without warning, FEMA must respond immediately with staff and supplies,
37 and must assess if other federal agencies are needed as well.

38
39 (3) Disaster Readiness. FEMA coordinates training, exercises and response planning
40 at federal, state and local levels. These activities help to ensure that when a disaster strikes, 41 emergency managers will be able to provide the best response possible. FEMA's National 42 Emergency Training Center in Emmetsburg, MD, is home to the Emergency Management
43 Institute and the National Fire Academy. There, emergency managers, firefighters, and elected
44 officials take classes in emergency planning, exercise design and disaster management
45 evaluation, hazardous materials response and fire service management. Educators are also 46 trained to teach youngsters about disaster safety. Independent Study Courses on disaster

1 preparedness and assistance are also available. FEMA also tests emergency procedures and 2 planning with large-scale exercises involving other federal agencies, and state and local officials,
3 and coordinates training and exercises for nuclear power plants and chemical stockpile
4 emergencies.

6 (4) Disaster Declaration Process

8 (a) Disaster event, either manmade or natural, occurs.

14 (d) Governor asks FEMA Regional Office to participate in federal/state
15 preliminary damage assessments (PDAs).

16
17 (e) Joint FEMA/state PDAs conducted.

18
19 (f) Governor requests a federal disaster declaration through its FEMA Regional 20 Office.

21
22 (g) Regional Office reviews request and sends its recommendation to FEMA
23 Headquarters.

24
25 (h) FEMA's Response and Recovery Directorate prepares a declaration packet, 26 reviews information and recommends either approving or denying the request.

27
28 (i) FEMA Director reviews declaration packet and sends recommendation for 29 approval or denial to the President.

30
31 (j) President makes final determination on federal disaster declaration.

ANNEX F TO APPENDIX A

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

1. Overview

Established in 1870, the Department of Justice (DOJ) provides legal advice to the President, represents the Executive Branch in court, investigates Federal crimes, enforces Federal laws, operates Federal prisons, and provides law enforcement assistance to states and local communities.

2. Authority and Responsibilities

The Attorney General heads the Department of Justice; supervises US attorneys, US marshals, clerks, and other officers of the Federal courts; represents the United States in legal matters, and makes recommendations to the President concerning appointments to Federal judicial positions and to positions within the Department of Justice, including US attorneys and US marshals.

3. Organizational Structure

a. The Department of Justice is organizationally depicted in Figure A-F-1. Its personnel include nearly 8,000 attorneys located primarily in the Antitrust, Civil, Civil Rights, Environment and Natural Resources, and Tax Divisions. The bulk of the remaining litigation is performed by the nearly 100 US attorneys and their staffs dispersed throughout the country.

b. Within the Criminal Division, the Internal Security Section supervises the investigation and prosecution of cases affecting national security, foreign relations, and the export of strategic commodities and technology. Its cases involve espionage, sabotage, neutrality, atomic energy, and violations of the Classified Information Procedures Act.

c. Among the law enforcement offices of the Department is the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), the primary narcotics enforcement agency for the USG. Its Domestic and International Criminal Law Sections are major interagency players-participants in criminal investigation policies, procedures, and legislation. The mission of the DEA is to enforce the controlled substances laws and regulations of the United States and bring to the criminal and civil justice system of the United States, or any other competent jurisdiction, those organizations and principal members of organizations, involved in the growing, manufacture, or distribution of controlled substances appearing in or destined for illicit traffic in the United States; and to recommend and support non-enforcement programs aimed at reducing the availability of illicit controlled substances on the domestic and international markets. In carrying out its mission as the agency responsible for enforcing the controlled substances laws and regulations of the United States, the DEA's primary responsibilities include:

(1) Investigation and preparation for the prosecution of major violators of controlled substance laws operating at interstate and international levels.

1           (2) Investigation and preparation for prosecution of criminals and drug gangs who
2     perpetrate violence in our communities and terrorize citizens through fear and intimidation.

4           (3) Management of a national drug intelligence program in cooperation with federal,
5     state, local, and foreign officials to collect, analyze, and disseminate strategic and operational
6     drug intelligence information.

8           (4) Seizure and forfeiture of assets derived from, traceable to, or intended to be used
9     for illicit drug trafficking.
10

11          (5) Enforcement of the provisions of the Controlled Substances Act as they pertain to 12     the manufacture, distribution, and dispensing of legally produced controlled substances.
13

14          (6) Coordination and cooperation with federal, state, and local law enforcement
15     officials on mutual drug enforcement efforts and enhancement of such efforts through 16     exploitation of potential interstate and international investigations beyond local or limited federal 17     jurisdictions and resources.
18

19          (7) Coordination and cooperation with federal, state, and local agencies, and with 20     foreign governments, in programs designed to reduce the availability of illicit abuse-type drugs
21     on the United States market through non-enforcement methods such as crop eradication, crop
22     substitution, and training of foreign officials.
23

24          (8) Responsibility, under the policy guidance of the Secretary of State and US
25     Ambassadors, for all programs associated with drug law enforcement counterparts in foreign 26     countries.
27

28          (9) Liaison with the United Nations, International Criminal Police Organization
29     (INTERPOL), and other organizations on matters relating to international drug control
30     programs.
31

32          d. The FBI investigates violations of certain Federal statutes, collects evidence in cases in 33     which the United States is or may be an interested party, and performs other duties imposed by 34     law or Presidential directive. The FBI also maintains liaison posts abroad in a number of foreign 35     countries in its effort to quell organized crime, drugs, foreign counterintelligence (CI), white
36     collar crime, terrorism, and violent crime.
37

38          e. The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF) enforces laws relating to 39     interstate trafficking in contraband cigarettes, commercial arson, trafficking in illicit distilled
40     spirits, firearms, destructive devices, and explosives. Since many crimes of violence are drug-
41     related, ATF directs a significant portion of its resources to fighting the war on drugs. The ATF
42     has its HQ in Washington, DC. Beneath the headquarters level are five regional offices that are 43     concerned with compliance operations and 22 district law enforcement offices in principal cities
44     within CONUS.
45

1       f. The INTERPOL — United States National Central Bureau (INTERPOL-USNCB)
2 — facilitates international law enforcement cooperation as the United States representative to 3 INTERPOL, an intergovernmental organization of 169 member countries. The functions of the 4 INTERPOL-USNCB include coordinating information for international investigations and 5 providing efficient communications between US domestic law enforcement agencies at the 6 Federal, state, and local levels and the National Central Bureaus of other member countries.

8       g. The United States Marshals Service (USMS) supervises our Nation's oldest Federal 9 law enforcement office, the United States Marshals, who serve in 94 judicial districts in the 50
10 states, the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the US Virgin Islands. They provide 11 prisoner transportation, service and execution of court orders, Federal court and judicial security,
12 witness protection, maintenance and disposal of forfeited assets, Federal fugitive apprehension, 13 foreign extradition, security and law enforcement assistance during movement of cruise and 14 intercontinental ballistic missiles, and emergency response by the USMS Special Operations
15 Group. The Marshals assume a special role when natural disasters or civil disturbances threaten 16 the peace of the United States.

17
18       h. The International Criminal Investigative Training Assistance Program (ICITAP)
19 was established within the Department of Justice in 1986 in an effort to enhance investigative 20 capabilities in democracies throughout Latin America. It has since expanded to Eastern 21 European Countries. ICITAP is funded through the annual Economic Support Fund
22 appropriations to United States Agency for International Development (USAID). The 23 Department of State provides policy guidance and oversight, while design, development, and 24 implementation of projects rests with the Department of Justice. ICITAP directs its assistance
25 primarily at police agencies, but an important focus is the relationship between the police,
26 judges, and prosecutors. ICITAP conducts two types of assistance projects: those which involve 27 development of entire police forces, and those involving rehabilitation or enhancement of 28 specific capabilities of existing police organizations. Through training courses, conferences, and 29 seminars, greater coordination among the three criminal justice sectors is sought.

30 31 4. Capabilities and Core Competencies

32
33       Some of the Department's key interagency components include the following:

34
35       a. The Office of Intelligence Policy and Review advises the Attorney General on all 36 matters relating to the national security activities of the United States. The Office prepares all
37 applications for surveillance under the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978, assists
38 Government agencies by providing legal advice on matters of national security law and policy, 39 and represents the Department of Justice on a variety of interagency committees, such as the 40 National Foreign Intelligence Council.

41
42       b. The FBI has six priority investigative areas: organized crime, drugs, counterterrorism, 43 white collar crime, foreign CI, and violent crime. The Bureau has extensive intelligence and 44 operational assets available, both domestically and overseas.

45

1 c. The USMS, through its Special Operations Group, can respond to a number of 2 emergency circumstances, including civil disturbances, terrorist incidents, and riot and mob-
3 violence situations.

5 d. The DEA operates with the Customs Service, the Internal Revenue Service, the Coast
6 Guard, and the 11-agency National Narcotics Intelligence Consumers Committee. It also 7 manages the El Paso Intelligence Center, using personnel from 13 Federal agencies.

9 e. The ~~INS-USCIS~~ plays a significant role in interagency response to migrant operations, |
10 including those involving Cuban, Haitian, and Chinese Nationals. The Coast Guard routinely
11 deploys with ~~INS-USCIS~~ agents and interpreters during scheduled migrant interdiction |
12 operations.

ANNEX G TO APPENDIX A

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

1. Overview

The Department of State (DOS) is the agency of the USG primarily responsible for planning and implementing the foreign policy of the United States. The Department of State is headed by the Secretary of State, who is the ranking member of the President's Cabinet and fourth in Presidential succession. The Secretary of State is the President's principal advisor on the conduct of foreign affairs and the formulation of foreign policy. In its diplomatic role, the Department is an important source of foreign affairs data, national security and economic information, and data on the policies and inner workings of the countries of the world. In its consular function, it provides notarial and citizenship services to American citizens abroad and assists in implementing US immigration and naturalization laws.

2. Authority and Responsibilities

Under the Constitution, the President has the authority to make treaties, to receive foreign emissaries, to appoint diplomatic and consular officials, and to exercise other authority provided by legislation. To assist the President in the exercise of these duties, Congress created the Department of State in 1789, with the Secretary of State as its head.

3. Organizational Structure

a. Department of State Headquarters. The Department of State's HQ provides political guidance to the Department, to the USAID and to the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (see Figure A-G-1).

(1) Subordinate to the Secretary are the Deputy Secretary of State and the Under Secretaries, who are responsible for management and coordination of the foreign policy process. There are Under Secretaries of State for each of the following:

(a) Political Affairs. Responsible for the general conduct of political relations and for representing the Department and the Secretary at the NSC Deputies level.

(b) Economic, Business, and Agricultural Affairs. Responsible for foreign policy decisions in these areas.

(c) Arms Control and International Security Affairs. Charged with the responsibility for policies in these areas, including all policy matters relating to security assistance, sensitive technology transfer, and counter-proliferation.

(d) Global Affairs. Responsible for all matters on global issues, such as international narcotics, counterterrorism, environment and science, population and refugees, labor, and human rights.

1 (e) Management. Responsible for the Department's resource management,
2 including personnel.

4 (2) The Department divides the world by function and region. Seven bureaus, 5 responsible to the Under Secretary for Political Affairs, are organized geographically, and are 6 headed by the Assistant Secretaries of State for:

8 (a) African Affairs.

10 (b) East Asian and Pacific Affairs.
11

12 (c) European and Canadian Affairs.
13

14 (d) Near Eastern Affairs.
15

16 (e) Inter-American Affairs.
17

18 (f) South Asian Affairs.
19

20 (g) International Organizational Affairs, supporting our missions in United 21 Nations (UN) agencies.
22

23 (3) The other bureaus in the Department are functionally oriented, and their Assistant
24 Secretaries are responsible to other Under Secretaries for such matters as Administration,
25 Diplomatic Security, Consular Affairs, Personnel, International Narcotics and Law Enforcement, 26 Oceans and Environmental Scientific Affairs, Politico-Military Affairs, Human Rights, and 27 Economic and Business Affairs.
28

29 (4) Bureaus are sub-divided into Offices headed by Directors. They are organized by 30 country or group of countries (e.g., the Office of Pakistan, Afghanistan, and Bangladesh Affairs, 31 the Office of Canadian Affairs), or by function. Regional office directors are often also called 32 Country Directors, and they supervise the work of Desk or Country Officers.
33

34 (5) Foreign Service Officers of the United States hold Presidential commissions and 35 are recruited through a difficult examination and entry process, with an up-or-out promotion
36 system akin to that of military officers.
37

38 b. The Department of State Overseas. The Department of State is represented by its core 39 staff of Foreign Service personnel at every one of the more than 300 US embassies, consulates-40 general, consulates, and missions to international diplomatic organizations overseas.
41

42 (1) Embassies are the basic unit for the conduct of diplomacy overseas. They are 43 headed by an Ambassador, who is a Presidential appointee and the President's personal 44 representative. As such, the Ambassador is the senior US official in the country. By law, 45 Ambassadors coordinate, direct, and supervise all USG activities and representatives posted in 46 the foreign country to which they are accredited. They do not, however, exercise control of US

1 personnel attached to and working for the head of a US Mission to an international organization
2 or US military personnel operating under the command of a geographic combatant commander.

4 (2) Overseas, Foreign Service Officers are assisted by another 10,000 career Foreign 5 Service National employees and the more than 1,600 US Marines on deputation to the 6 Department of State as Marine Security Guards.

8 4. Capabilities and Core Competencies 9

10 The Department of State provides a variety of citizen services.
11

12 a. Travel information for citizens traveling abroad (the Citizen's Emergency Center).
13

14 b. US passports (the Passport Office of the Bureau of Consular Affairs).
15

16 c. Replacement passports, notarial, and burial services for US citizens abroad.
17

18 d. Certification of documents for use in foreign countries.
19

20 e. Consular services for US citizens in difficulties or arrested in foreign countries.
21

22 f. Information on foreign economic and business opportunities (the Bureau of Economic 23 and Business Affairs).
24

25 5. Interagency Relationships 26

27 The staff mix in US embassies, its country team, replicates the mix of foreign affairs
28 agencies in Washington, DC. Staff at any of the US embassies abroad includes employees of the 29 Departments of Commerce, Defense, Agriculture, Justice, and other agencies such as Peace
30 Corps and USAID.

8 understanding. The Department of Transportation brings to the interagency table a responsive
9 planning and operational mechanism, and a logistics apparatus to support strategic and 10 operational planning for force projection, combat operations, deterrence, crisis response, disaster
11 assistance, humanitarian relief efforts, and strategic exercises.
12

13 5. Interagency Relationships
14

15 a. The Department of Transportation maintains relationships with many components of the 16 Department of Defense as described in “Working Relationships Between the Department of 17 Transportation and the Department of Defense.” This pamphlet summarizes mutual

19 national security issues.
20

21 b. The Department of Transportation has considerable expertise involving the civilian and 22 military use of the Nation’s transportation system. For this reason, the Department of 23 Transportation can redirect the Nation’s transportation assets and change priorities, usually 24 through Presidential EO or emergency decrees.
25

ANNEX J TO APPENDIX A CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

1. Overview

The Central Intelligence Agency collects, evaluates, and disseminates vital information on foreign political, military, economic, scientific, and other developments. Overseas, the CIA is responsible for coordinating the Nation's intelligence activities and for developing intelligence that affects the national security.

2. Authority and Responsibilities

a. The CIA was established by the National Security Act of 1947. EO 12333, issued by President Reagan on 4 December 1981, gives the Director of Central Intelligence authority to develop and implement the National Foreign Intelligence Program (NFIP) and to coordinate the tasking of all Intelligence Community collection elements (see Figure A-J-1).

b. Director of Central Intelligence (DCI). The DCI is both the head of the Intelligence Community and the Director, CIA. As the DCI, the Director acts as the principal intelligence advisor to the President and the NSC and heads a grouping of intelligence components comprised of the CIA; the NSA; the DIA; the National Imagery and Mapping Agency (NIMA); the Bureau of Intelligence and Research of the Department of State; Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force intelligence offices; the CI component of the FBI; the Department of the Treasury; and the Department of Energy.

(1) The DCI has four major Intelligence Community responsibilities.

(a) To serve as the senior intelligence officer of the USG.

(b) To establish requirements and priorities for Community efforts.

(c) To develop and justify the NFIP budget.

(d) To ensure protection of intelligence sources and methods.

(2) A number of specialized committees deal with intelligence matters of common concern. Chief among these groups are the National Foreign Intelligence Board and the National Foreign Intelligence Council that the DCI chairs.

c. Executive Director for Intelligence Community Affairs (EXDIR/ICA). The DCI is supported by the EXDIR/ICA, who is responsible for developing the NFIP budget, establishing requirements for collection and production and their priorities, conducting audits and evaluations, ensuring the protection of sensitive intelligence sources and methods, and other concerns of common interest. The EXDIR/ICA's staff, drawn from all parts of the Intelligence Community, is formally known as the Community Management Staff.

d. Deputy Director of Central Intelligence (DDCI). The DDCI assists the Director and acts for and exercises the powers of the Director during his or her absence or disability, or in the event of a vacancy in the position of Director.

e. Executive Director (EXDIR). The EXDIR runs the CIA on a daily basis and coordinates the development of policies in all management and administrative areas that affect the corporate interests of the Agency and its personnel.

f. CIA Responsibilities. The CIA has no police, subpoena, law enforcement powers, or internal (domestic) security functions. The CIA, under the direction of the President or the NSC, is responsible for the following:

(1) To advise the NSC regarding national security-related intelligence activities and the coordination of those activities.

(2) To correlate and evaluate intelligence relating to the national security and provide for appropriate dissemination.

(3) To collect, produce, and disseminate CI and foreign intelligence, as well as intelligence on foreign aspects of narcotics production and trafficking.

(4) To conduct CI activities outside and within the United States in coordination with the FBI.

(5) To coordinate CI activities and the collection of information not otherwise obtainable when conducted outside the United States by other departments and agencies.

(6) To conduct special activities approved by the President.

3. Organizational Structure

The CIA is organized into Directorates having the following responsibilities.

a. Directorate of Intelligence. As the analytical branch of the CIA, it is responsible for the production and dissemination of all-source intelligence analysis on key foreign issues.

b. Directorate of Operations (DDO). The DDO has primary responsibility for the clandestine collection of foreign intelligence, including human intelligence (HUMINT). The Associate Deputy Director for Military Affairs facilitates intelligence support for the military, while the Chairman, National HUMINT Requirements Tasking Center, coordinates HUMINT collection among all US Government agencies.

1       c. Directorate of Science and Technology. Creates and applies innovative technology in 2 support of the intelligence collection mission.

4       4. Capabilities and Core Competencies

6       a. The CIA's reconnaissance and intelligence assessment capabilities are essential
7 ingredients to interagency strategic and operational planning. It provides real-time response in 8 the quest for essential information to form the basis for interagency action.

10       b. The Office of Military Affairs (OMA) provides the full range of the CIA's intelligence
11 and operational capabilities to support deployed US forces. The office is composed of CIA
12 personnel from all directorates and of military detailees from all the uniformed Services. The 13 OMA is the only CIA component with the exclusive mission of supporting military plans and 14 operations and has the mandate to coordinate overall intelligence community support to military 15 customers.

16
17       5. Interagency Relationships

18
19       The CIA is involved with other agencies of the USG on a regular basis, to include the 20 following:

22       a. NSC Senior Interagency Group. The DCI serves as the Chairman of the NSC's Senior 23 Interagency Group when it meets to consider issues requiring interagency attention, deals with 24 inter-departmental matters, and monitors the execution of approved intelligence policies and 25 decisions.

26
27       b. National Intelligence Council (NIC). The NIC, managed by a Chairman and Vice 28 Chairman for Evaluations and a Vice Chairman for Estimates, is comprised of National 29 Intelligence Officers — senior experts drawn from all elements of the Intelligence Community
30 and from outside the Government. The National Intelligence Officers concentrate on the 31 substantive problems of particular geographic regions of the world and of particular functional
32 areas, such as economics and weapons proliferation. They produce national intelligence 33 estimates.

34
35       c. National Intelligence Support Team (NIST). A NIST provides national level, all-source
36 intelligence support from throughout the intelligence community to deployed commanders
37 during crisis or contingency operations. NISTs are comprised of intelligence and 38 communications experts from DIA, CIA, NIMA, NSA, and other agencies as required to support
39 the specific needs of the joint force commander (JFC). Joint Staff Intelligence Directorate is the 40 NIST program's executive agent and has delegated the NIST mission to the Deputy Directorate
41 for Crisis Operations, J2O. The National Intelligence Support Division, J2O-1, manages daily
42 operations and interagency coordination for all NISTs. The NIST's reachback capability can 43 provide answers to time-sensitive requests for information, special assessments, indications and 44 warnings, immediate access to national databases, direct geospatial production support, and 45 deployed/resident agency analyst coordination.

ANNEX K TO APPENDIX A NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL

1. Overview

The NSC was established by the National Security Act of 1947 as the principal forum to consider national security issues that require Presidential decision. Its membership includes the President, the Vice President, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense, and the Secretary of Homeland Security. The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Director of Central Intelligence serve as statutory advisors to the NSC. It recommends objectives and commitments to the President, assesses risks to the United States related to our military power and considers matters of common interest to the government concerning national security. The NSC sits atop a structure of departments and agencies that mirrors its composition and provides an operating level for the planning and implementation of national security decisions.

2. Authority and Responsibilities

a. The NSC gives advice on integrating foreign, economic and military policies as they relate to national security. It develops policy options, considers implications, coordinates operational problems that require inter-departmental consideration, develops recommendations for the President, and monitors policy implementation. The NSC staff is the President's principal staff for national security issues. NSC documents are established to inform USG departments and agencies of Presidential actions. ~~These include the following:~~

b. ~~Each administration typically adopts different names for its NSC documents. For example, the Clinton Administration used the terms "Presidential Decision Directive" (PDD) and "Presidential Review Directive" (PRD). On the other hand, the Reagan Administration used the terms "National Security Decision Directive" (NSDD) and "National Security Study Directive" (NSSD). The current Administration uses the term "National Security Presidential Directive" (NSPD). Presidential Decision Directive (PDD). The PDD series announces Presidential decisions implementing national policy objectives of national security. PDDs usually lay out in detail the logic, rationale, and thinking behind the decisions. Some decisions, such as covert actions, must be formatted as "findings."~~

~~c. Presidential Review Directive (PRD). The PRD series directs that studies be undertaken involving national security policy and objectives.~~

~~d. Other Communications. Under recent administrations, Presidential decisions have been communicated by intelligence findings, National Security Directives, National Security Decision Directives, and other types. Past administrations have also used National Security Action Memorandums, Presidential Directives, and even EOs.~~

3. Organizational Structure

a. The NSC is chaired by the President. Its membership includes the President, the Vice President, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of Homeland Security, the Secretary of the Treasury, the US Representative to the UN, the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, the Assistant to the President for Economic Affairs, and the Chief of Staff to the President. The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Director of Central Intelligence serve as statutory advisors to the NSC. The Attorney General, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, heads of other executive departments and agencies, and senior officials of the Executive Office of the President and the NSC staff may attend meetings of the NSC at the special invitation of the President or the National Security Advisor (see Figure A-K-1).

b. Three NSC sub-groups were established by National Security Directive-1: the NSC/Principals Committee (NSC/PC), the NSC/Deputies Committee (NSC/DC), and the NSC Policy Coordinating Committees (NSC/PCCs).

(1) The NSC/PC is the senior interagency forum for consideration of policy issues affecting national security. Members include the National Security Advisor (Chairman), the Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense, Director of Central Intelligence, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the Chief of Staff to the President. The NSC/PC Chairman may invite others depending on the issues to be discussed. Some Presidents have used the NSC/PC meetings to supplement NSC meetings and to address more specific issues. In these instances,

1 the NSC/PC may be formed into National Security Planning Groups.

3 (2) The NSC/DC is the senior sub-Cabinet interagency forum. It reviews and 4 monitors the work of the NSC interagency process. Members include the Deputy National 5 Security Advisor (Chairman), Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs, Under Secretary of 6 Defense for Policy, Deputy DCI, and Vice Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. When meeting
7 on covert actions, the attendees include a representative of the Attorney General.

9 (3) The NSC has established regional and functional PCCs to deal with such issues
10 as combatting terrorism and counterdrugs. PCCs are often organized at the deputy assistant
11 secretary, office director, and action officer level. These can be further divided into smaller 12 working groups to address facets of major issues.

14 c. Special Assistants to the President on the NSC Staff serve in functional areas such as 15 defense policy and arms control, nonproliferation and export control, inter-American affairs,
16 humanitarian affairs, intelligence, and economic affairs. Each leads an IWG-PCC that includes 17 representatives at the Assistant Secretary level from the Executive departments or agencies.

18 19 4. Capabilities and Core Competencies

20
21 a. Considering the composition and method of operation of the NSC, it is intrinsically 22 organized as the President's principal and personal staff for crisis response, and possesses the 23 ability to bring the resources of the USG and the private sector to bear on the needs of the 24 situation.

25
26 b. The NSC is responsible to:

27
28 (1) Coordinate Executive departments and agencies in the development and 29 implementation of national security policy.

30
31 (2) Track the execution and implementation of national security policies for the 32 President.

ANNEX L TO APPENDIX A

PEACE CORPS

1. Overview

The Peace Corps' purpose is to promote world peace and friendship, to help other countries in meeting their needs for trained manpower, and to help promote understanding between the American people and other peoples served by the Peace Corps. The Peace Corps Act emphasizes the Peace Corps' commitment toward programming to meet the basic needs of those living in the countries in which it operates.

2. Authority and Responsibilities

The Peace Corps is an independent Federal agency committed to meeting the basic needs of those living in the countries in which it operates. President John F. Kennedy created the Peace Corps by EO in 1961.

3. Organizational Structure

The Peace Corps is headquartered in Washington, DC (1990 K Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20526). Fifteen offices in major US cities help thousands of Peace Corps applicants compete for placement as volunteers. The Peace Corps' international operations are divided into four regions: Africa; Asia and the Pacific; Europe, Central Asia, and the Mediterranean; and Inter-America. Approximately 7,000 Peace Corps volunteers and trainees serve in over 90 countries in Asia, the Pacific, Africa, the Middle East, Central and South America, the Caribbean, Central and Eastern Europe, and the former Soviet Union. Since 1961, over 140,000 Peace Corps volunteers have served in over 100 countries worldwide.

4. Capabilities and Core Competencies

Peace Corps volunteers provide assistance in six program sectors.

a. Agriculture — food production, storage, distribution, marketing, sustainable agriculture, aquaculture, and pest management.

b. Education — ~~english~~English, mathematics, science, or business studies; special, vocational, and non-formal education activities for adults and at-risk youth.

c. Environment — community work, teaching the importance of national resource conservation along with sustainable management techniques; reforestation, forestry and watershed management.

d. Health — primary health care services, maternal and child health activities, nutrition, community health education, Guinea worm eradication, water and sanitation projects, and

1 human immuno-deficiency virus/acquired immune deficiency syndrome (HIV/AIDS) education
2 and prevention.

4 e. Small Business — local economic development through self-sustaining income and 5 employment producing practices, business management, commercial banking and related skills,
6 and assisting efforts to establish free market economies.

8 f. Urban Development — housing, solid waste management, urban planning and urban 9 youth development projects.

10 5. Interagency Relationships

13 a. Peace Corps volunteers, by nature of their commitment and responsibilities, traditionally 14 work as members of a team. Through its collaborative agreements with USG agencies and 15 ongoing cooperation and coordination with NGOs and with self-help grants to indigenous 16 groups, the Peace Corps strengthens and increases its impact.

17
18 b. To maximize foreign assistance funds, the Peace Corps works closely with other USG
19 agencies, particularly USAID, the USDA/Forest Service, US Department of the Interior/Park
20 Service, the EPA, and the US DHHS. In many countries, Peace Corps coordinates its efforts
21 with NGOs that also receive support from the USG.

ANNEX M TO APPENDIX A
UNITED STATES AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT/OFFICE OF FOREIGN DISASTER ASSISTANCE

1. Overview

USAID plays both a major role in US foreign policy and a principal role in interagency coordination. It is an autonomous agency under the policy direction of the Secretary of State, which is headed by the Administrator of USAID. USAID administers and directs the US foreign economic assistance program and acts as the lead Federal agency for US foreign disaster assistance. USAID works largely in support of the Department of State and manages a worldwide network of country programs for economic and policy reforms that generates sound economic growth, encourages political freedom and good governance, and invests in human resource development. Response to natural and manmade disasters is one of the Agency's primary missions.

2. Authority and Responsibilities

a. USAID administers a wide variety of programs in the developing world, Central and Eastern Europe, and the newly independent states of the former Soviet Union. It administers two kinds of foreign assistance: the Development Assistance and Economic Support Funds. It provides funding for extraordinary economic assistance in developing countries and manages several "Food for Peace" assistance programs.

b. USAID focuses much of its efforts on six areas of special concern: agriculture, the environment, child survival, HIV/AIDS, population planning, and basic education. It directs all developmental assistance programs under the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, Public Law 480 ("Food for Peace") and similar legislation.

c. USAID is also the principal agency charged with coordinating the USG response to declared disasters and emergencies worldwide. Through its Office of Foreign Disaster Assistance (OFDA), the Agency administers the President's authority to provide emergency relief and long-term humanitarian assistance in response to disasters as declared by the ambassador (also known as the chief of mission [COM]) within the affected country or higher Department of State authority. USAID/OFDA may also expedite interventions at the operational and tactical levels through NGOs, regional and international organizations, and other sources of relief capacity.

d. The Administrator of USAID is the Special Coordinator for International Disaster Assistance.

e. When a disaster declaration has been made by the Ambassador, USAID coordinates the USG response. The Director of OFDA has primary responsibility for initiating this response. The Administrator of USAID, as the Special Coordinator, has delegated the authority to coordinate response to international disasters to OFDA, which is organized under the Agency's Bureau for Democracy, Conflict, and Humanitarian Assistance (DCHA)~~Humanitarian Response~~. USAID/OFDA responsibilities include:

- (1) Organize and coordinate the total USG disaster relief response.
- (2) Respond to embassy and/or mission requests for disaster assistance.
- (3) Initiate necessary procurement of supplies, services and transportation.
- (4) Coordinate assistance efforts with operational-level NGOs.

3. Organizational Structure

- a. USAID consists of a central HQ staff in the Washington, DC area and a large number of overseas missions, offices, and regional organizations (see Figure A-M-1).

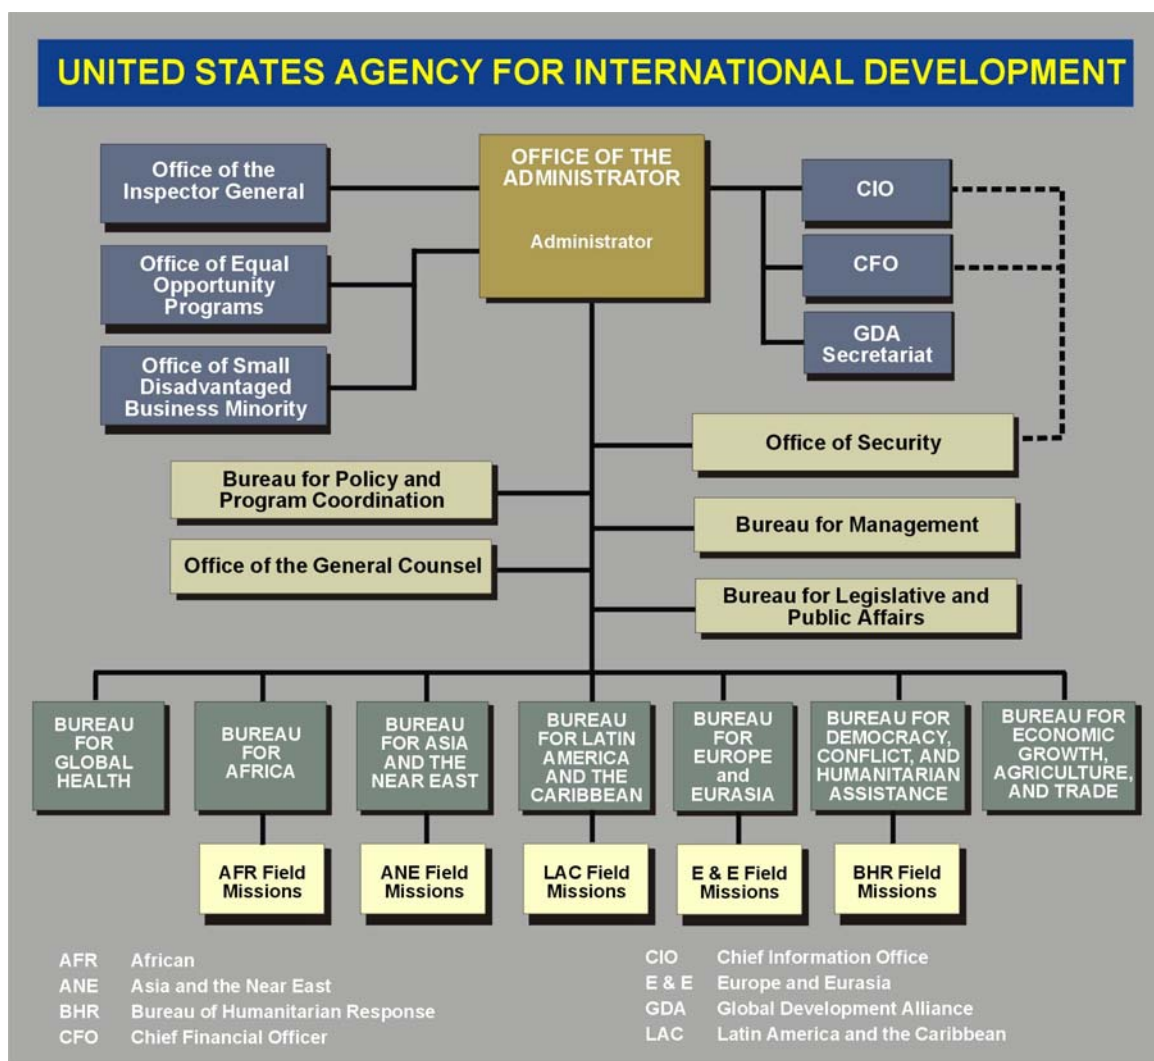

Figure A-M-1. United States Agency for International Development

1       b. Staff Offices and Functional Bureaus. Four staff offices and five functional bureaus
2 are responsible for USAID's overall policy formulation, program management, planning, inter-
3 and intra-agency coordination, resource allocation, training programs, and liaison with Congress.
4 International disaster assistance activities are coordinated by OFDA.

6       c. Geographic Bureaus. Four bureaus (Africa; Asia and the Near East; Europe and ~~Eurasia~~
7 ~~the Newly Independent States~~; and Latin America and the Caribbean) are the principal USAID line offices,
8 with responsibility for the planning, formulation, and management of US economic development
9 and/or supporting assistance programs in their areas. There are three types of country organizations;
10 USAID Missions, Offices of USAID Representative, and USAID Sections of the embassy.

11
12       d. Office of Foreign Disaster Assistance. OFDA consists of the Office of the Director
13 and three functional divisions: ~~Disaster, Response and Mitigation Division; Operations~~
14 ~~Division; and Program Support Division.~~~~Prevention, Mitigation and Preparedness Division;~~
15 ~~Disaster Response Division; and Operations Support Division.~~ It also operates a Crisis
16 Management Center to coordinate disaster assistance operations when necessary, 24 hours a day
17 (see Figure A-M-2).

18
19       e. OFDA Regional Advisors. OFDA has regional advisors stationed in ~~Bangkok,~~
20 ~~Thailand; Katmandu, Nepal; Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; San Jose, Costa Rica; Manila, Republic of~~
21 ~~the Philippines; and Nairobi, Kenya; Suva, Fiji.~~ They are emergency response experts and 22 consultants, long experienced with USAID. All have security clearances and are known to
23 government officials and UN, International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), and NGO
24 representatives as well as senior officials in US embassies and USAID missions and offices.

25
26       f. Disaster Assistance Response Teams (DART). OFDA has developed a response
27 capability called DART as a method of providing rapid response assistance to international 28 disasters. A DART provides specialists trained in a variety of disaster relief skills to assist US
29 embassies and USAID missions with the management of the USG response to international 30 disasters. The structure of a DART is dependent on the size, complexity, type and location of 31 the disaster, and the needs of the embassy and/or USAID mission and the affected country.

32 33 4. Capabilities and Core Competencies

34
35       USAID/OFDA's capabilities include the following:

36
37       a. To respond to longer-term, complex emergencies such as civil strife, population
38 displacement and other manmade disasters.

39
40       b. To provide useful, and at times critical, information in these areas through its collection
41 of data on US disaster assistance, world disaster histories, US and other donor country actions in 42 case reports, country preparedness reports, and commodity use.

44       c. To obligate up to $50,000 in cash, in cooperation with the US embassy or mission, for 45 supplies or services to assist disaster victims (the Agency's International Disaster Assistance 46 budget includes a $75 million appropriation each year for contingency operations).

- d. To make cash grants to local government relief organizations or international voluntary agencies handling emergency relief.
- e. To purchase needed relief supplies.
- f. To access important data through its Disaster Assistance Logistics Information System.
- g. To transport relief supplies to the affected country.
- h. To reimburse other USG agencies for disaster relief services.
- i. To acquire disaster relief supplies from OFDA stockpiles.
- j. To provide additional funds to support activities in the following essential sectors: shelter, water and sanitation, health, food, logistics, and technical assistance.

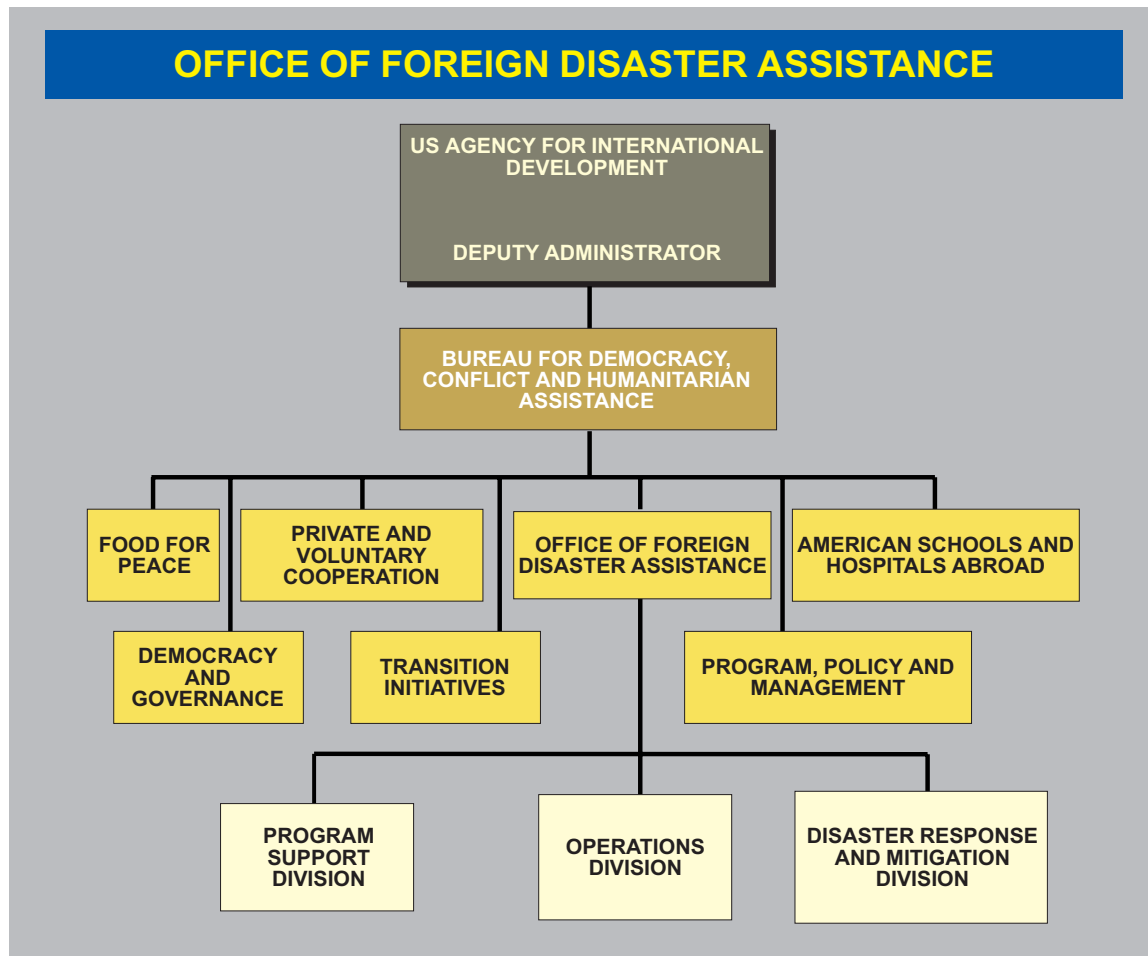

Figure A-M-2. Office of Foreign Disaster Assistance

1 k. To maintain stockpiles of standard relief commodities in Maryland (United States),
2 Panama, Italy, Guam, and Thailand.

4 5. Interagency Relationships

6 a. USAID/OFDA has established relationships with several USG agencies and dozens of 7 NGOs and international organizations. In carrying out its responsibilities, USAID/OFDA draws
8 on these agencies and organizations, as required, to coordinate the USG's response to foreign 9 disasters. Similarly, these agencies and organizations look to USAID/OFDA for advice and 10 assistance, as appropriate, in handling their assigned responsibilities. USAID/OFDA currently 11 has agreements with the following:

12
13 b. USDA's US Forest Service and the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management, 14 for emergency managers, logisticians, communicators and firefighting experts.

15
16 c. US Public Health Service and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, for health
17 assessment and to provide medical personnel, equipment, and supplies.

18
19 d. US Geological Survey, for notification and assessment of earthquakes and volcanic 20 eruptions.

21
22 e. NOAA, for typhoon, hurricane, and cyclone reporting and assessment.

23
24 f. FEMA, for training in disaster management, emergency preparedness, and relief for host-
25 country disaster specialists.

26
27 g. The Department of Defense, for matters concerning defense equipment and personnel
28 provided to the affected country and for arranging DOD transportation. Department of Defense
29 Directive 5100.46, "Foreign Disaster Relief," establishes the relationship between the 30 Department of Defense and USAID/OFDA. The Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense
31 (Humanitarian and Refugee Affairs) is the Department of Defense's primary point of contact.
32 The Joint Staff point of contact for the DOD Foreign Disaster Relief/Humanitarian Assistance
33 Program is the Chief, Logistics Readiness Center, J-4. When USAID/OFDA requests specific 34 services from the Department of Defense (typically airlift), USAID/OFDA pays for those 35 services/commodities. The geographic combatant commander can directly coordinate with 36 OFDA to obtain military and civilian assistance efforts. Additionally, the Department of 37 Defense independently has statutory authority to respond to overseas manmade or natural 38 disasters when necessary to prevent loss of life. Under the statute's implementing EO, the 39 Secretary of Defense provides such assistance at the direction of the President or in consultation
40 with the Secretary of State.

1        EPA's mission is to protect human health and to safeguard the natural environment. The 2        EPA provides leadership in the nation's environmental science, research, education and
3        assessment efforts. EPA works closely with other federal agencies, state and local governments,
4        and Indian tribes to develop and enforce regulations under existing environmental laws. EPA is 5        responsible for researching and setting national standards for a variety of environmental 6        programs and delegates to states and tribes responsibility for issuing permits, and monitoring and 7        enforcing compliance. Where national standards are not met, EPA can issue sanctions and take 8        other steps to assist the states and tribes in reaching the desired levels of environmental quality.
9        The Agency also works with industries and all levels of government in a wide variety of 10       voluntary pollution prevention programs and energy conservation efforts.

NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS

1. This appendix provides a summary of selected NGOs.

2. An NGO is a transnational organization of private citizens that maintains a consultative status with the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations. NGOs may be professional associations, foundations, multinational businesses, or simply groups with a common interest in humanitarian assistance activities (development and relief).

3. Although the Department of Defense has combined Private Volunteer Organization into the NGO category, personnel working with these organizations should be aware that this combination is not necessarily widely accepted across the USG or by the organizations themselves. As a point of reference, USAID defines a private voluntary organization as a tax exempt, non-profit organization working in, or intending to become engaged in, international development activities. These organizations receive some portion of their annual revenue from the private sector (demonstrating their private nature) and voluntary contributions of money, staff time, or in-kind support from the general public (demonstrating their voluntary nature). USAID defines NGOs as any private or nonprofit entity that is formed or organized independently from any national or local governmental entity. These can include for-profit firms, academic degree-granting institutions, universities and colleges, labor institutions, foundations, private voluntary organizations, and a cooperative development organizations.

ACCION International (ACCION)	One of the pioneers of microlending, ACCION International is a private nonprofit organization with over 25 years of expertise in the field. Since 1973, ACCION has worked to give people the tools they need--business loans and training--to work their way out of poverty. Through "micro" loans, ACCION's network provides the support these microentrepreneurs need to make enough money to feed their family, send a child to school or employ a neighbor. ACCION (cont'd)	ACCION's goal is to make access to credit a permanent resource for the poor worldwide. At the heart of this vision is the recognition that microcredit must be financially sustainable, not perennially dependent on donations or government aid. For this reason, ACCION programs are designed to become financially self-sufficient within five years. Microlenders that are financially self-sufficient can attract private investment, giving them the funds to reach many more people. ACCION works to connect microlenders to the trillions of dollars in capital markets by helping them become commercially viable. ACCION has played a key role in the creation of a number of fully commercial microfinance institutions in Bolivia, Peru, Mexico and Ecuador. These institutions are demonstrating that it is possible for a commercial lender to both serve the poor and be profitable. In this way, microfinance institutions are beginning to access the wealth of capital markets to help the very people our system has traditionally left behind. In 1991, ACCION decided to bring its microlending experience to the United States to foster economic growth in distressed urban centers. In 1997, President Clinton honored ACCION and its U.S. Network with a Presidential Award for Excellence in Micro-Enterprise Development for its success in demonstrating the viability of microlending in the United States.

Its advocacy extends to the publication, The Geopolitics of Hunger , released every two years. Action Against Hunger-USA's involvement usually begins with emergency relief in response to a crisis. Relief is always reinforced by longer term programs enabling victims to regain their autonomy and the means to live independently without relying on external aid. In carrying out its activities, Action Against Hunger-USA abides by the following principles: independence, impartiality, nondiscrimination, free and direct access to victims, professionalism and transparency. United States Association for the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (USA for UNHCR)	Established by concerned American citizens, USA for UNHCR builds support in the United States for the humanitarian work of UNHCR and its partners. Our mission is to raise the consciousness of Americans about the work and accomplishments of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) through education and advocacy. We want to give individual Americans, frustrated by the growing refugee crisis and their own inability to do something to help, a way to put action behind their words. In addition to educating Americans about the needs and circumstances of refugees worldwide and to advocating on behalf of those who are forced to flee in fear for their lives and their liberty, USA for UNHCR also raises private funds to support UNHCR efforts. UNHCR is responsible for protecting over 22 million people worldwide, including refugees, internally displaced people and former refugees who are returning to their homes. As the largest international humanitarian organization, UNHCR and its 500+ partners provide food, water, shelter, medical and other types of assistance to refugees worldwide. UNHCR operates in 120 countries. When governments are unable or unwilling to protect their own citizens, UNHCR helps refugees find safety and the means to begin a normal life again.	USA for UNHCR provides support to UNHCR field operations worldwide.
